Greece Smashes Invasion Forces

By ALKAOIS ANGELOPOULOS

ATHENS, July 16 (INS)—The Greek government announced complete suppression of at least one phase of the allegedly Communist-inspired invasion today amid newspaper predictions that American military aid can be expected. As the news of victory reached the capital, six more guerrilla formations were reported massing along the frontier which abuts upon Communist-dominated states of the Russian orbit.

Tax Veto Perils Aid To Europe

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

WASHINGTON, July 16 (INS)—A high-ranking House Republican warned today that the Marshall plan will be "seriously jeopardized" if the $4,000,000,000 tax reduction bill fails to become law.

The note of caution came as Congress awaited a promised veto from President Truman, who is returning the bill Friday without his approval for the second time this year.

Rep. Knutson (R.) of Minnesota, chairman of the House ways and means committee, took recognition of the fact that Senate Republicans still are several votes shy of the number required to override the veto. He stated:

"A veto, if sustained, will seriously jeopardize the Marshall plan, because many of us feel that if the condition of the Treasury is so precarious as to not permit a reduction in personal income taxes it naturally follows we are not in shape to carry the Marshall plan into effect."

The tie-in between the program for the reconstruction of Europe and the tax reduction bill, which would become effective Jan. 1, came as the House asserted itself on the program enunciated by Sec. Marshall June 15.

The lower chamber pushed plans for the creation of a special 19-member House committee to investigate the needs of foreign nations and United States resources available for their assistance.

The vote on the tax veto will come Friday, immediately after the President's message is read to the House. Knutson, the bill's sponsor, predicted that the veto would be overridden by a safe margin, but admitted the vote in the Senate will be close.

The Senate is expected to receive the veto Monday.

Cash Short, Maine Banker Suicide

MADISON, Me., July 16—While State bank examiners were going over the books upstairs, Clayton D. Weston, 46, manager of the Madison branch of the Depositors' Trust Co., shot and killed himself in the bank basement.

Medical Examiner W. S. Stinchfield, who ruled Weston a suicide, said the victim had shot himself in the head with a revolver.

State Bank Comm. Homer E. Robinson announced in Augusta that his examiners had discovered a $5600 shortage during a routine check. He said they had notified Weston only a short while before the shooting.

Furnace Hid Torso of Slain Man in Harlem

NEW YORK, July 16 (INS)—The torso of a man believed to be Harold Keppeler of Paterson, N. J., was found stuffed in a Harlem furnace today and an hour later a man arrested in the slain man's car allegedly confessed the crime.

The entire drama was enacted in four brief hours.

The defendant, James Gibson of New York, a Negro, told police in New Brunswick, N. J., he "murdered a man in New York" at 3 a. m.

The murder was discovered at 6 a. m., when Ernest Williams, superintendent of the Harlem building, went to the basement to stoke the furnace and found the upper portion of a man's body.

At 7 a. m., New Brunswick police picked up Gibson on a traffic charge. As he was being booked, word came from the New Jersey State Motor Vehicle Department to watch for Keppeler's 1946 convertible sedan and hold the driver for New York police.

Kiwanis Here Raps Car Prize Race Bar

New England Kiwanians are hot under their fraternal collars today as a result of the Ashokie, N. C. incident, wherein the Kiwanis club there withheld a $3200 automobile

BULLETIN

Charles W. Armstrong, of Salisbury, N. C., international president of Kiwanis, told the Boston American by telephone today he had advised the Ashokie, N. C., Kiwanis Club to give Harry Jones, Negro lottery winner, the $3200 automobile withheld from him as an "unauthorized" participant.

Meanwhile, reports of the Ashokie lottery handling have "absolutely" hurt the sale of automobile lottery tickets here for a six-car raffle by 15 Kiwanis clubs at Suffolk Downs, Aug. 18-24, according to Alvin Klauer of Cambridge, chairman of the committee in charge.

"Several war veterans from Brookline called up and wanted their money back," Klauer said. "They said they had read of the Ashokie development and they regarded it as un-American."

"Officials of Kiwanis International in the New England district," he added, "are now doing everything in their power to get an official report of what happened. If the Ashokie club stipulated in the beginning that Negroes could not participate in the lottery I suppose it was within its legal rights in not releasing the car to the Negro who won it—but if such a stipulation was not made, the withholding of the car was wrong and un-American."

"If we find the latter is true, we will do all in our power here to see that the man gets a car." James Case, East Boston druggist and president of the Kiwanis Club there, did not wait for an official investigation. He telegraphed the headquarters of Kiwanis International in Chicago, demanding the Ashokie Club be expelled from the international organization.

The southern incident is most shocking," Case said. "That's the south for you. I hope the national headquarters will take prompt steps against the Ashokie Club."

With reference to the forthcoming Kiwanis lottery of six cars at Suffolk Downs, Case said:

"Nothing like the Ashokie affair could ever happen in New England. We have many Negroes selling tickets for us and several thousands of their race have bought tickets. If anyone of them wins an automobile you may be sure he will receive it."

The man who won the car in Ashokie could not get it, was Harvey Jones, a 23-year-old Navy veteran of World War II. On the "You do not have to be present," Jones wasn't present at the dance-and-drawing, because Negroes

Bugsy's Virginia Hill Denies Suicide Plan

By ROBERT CHASEUIL

NICE, France, July 16 (INS)—The fabulous Virginia Hill, reportedly marked for death by underworld triggermen because of her knowledge of the murdered Benjamin ("Bugsy") Siegel's activities, denied today that she attempted suicide last week. In a statement issued through her nurse, the attractive 30-year-old mystery girl in whose palatial California home Siegel was slain June 30, explained her hospitalization in Monaco.

Authorities revealed she had been found unconscious in her room July 8 at an exclusive Monte Carlo hotel. An emptied tube of sleeping pills reportedly was found beside her, leading to the report she had tried to take her own life.

Records at the Monaco Hospital showed Virginia had been treated for "intoxicating effects" of an overdose of a sleeping drug. The record said she was not in a comatose state when admitted, but was hysterical.

Virginia, however, said a nervous breakdown due to all the unfavorable publicity following the shocking news of Siegel's murder necessitated the hospitalization.

Following her release the day after being admitted to the hospital, the 30-year-old Virginia retired to semi-seclusion in the Reserve de Beaulieu—a luxurious Riviera hotel, midway between Nice and Monte Carlo.

Virginia's nurse quoted the American girl as saying:

"While in Paris I had a nervous breakdown because I loved Mr. Siegel so much. I decided to go to the Riviera because there were too many distractions in Paris."

"I arrived at the Monte Carlo Beach Hotel and received reports of what newspapers were saying about me in America. Then I had another, and worse breakdown and was rushed to the hospital."

The nurse, an English-speaking woman, said Virginia is depressed and spends hours without talking. She added that her patient does not fear gangsters who reportedly are trailing her, and has not asked French police for protection.

Monte Carlo police records show no entry of a suicide attempt, indicating that if Virginia actually did swallow the complete contents of the sleeping-medicine vial, as originally reported, it apparently was without suicidal intent.

4 Towns Fight Fire In Wellesley Plant

Firemen of four communities were given a stiff, two-hour battle early today when a general alarm fire destroyed a large shed filled with finished lumber and partly burned two others at the plant of the Grossman Lumber Co., in Washington st., Wellesley. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Two Wellesley patrolmen, Alfred Fisher and Leo Armitage, discovered the blaze while cruising in the vicinity of the plant, and radioed the alarm. By the time the local firefighters arrived on the scene, one large shed was a mass of flame.

The second alarm brought firemen and apparatus from Newton, Needham and Waltham.

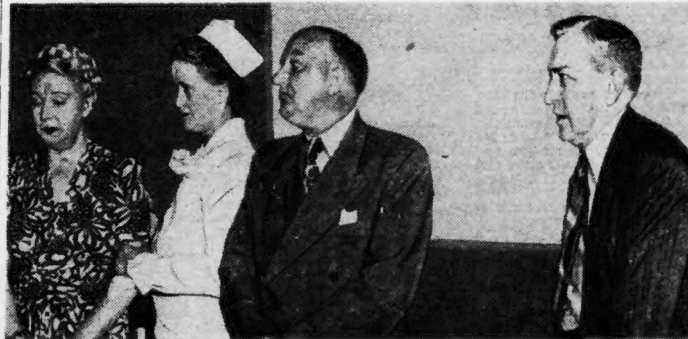

Efforts were concentrated in saving the two adjoining sheds from total destruction. The sides of both buildings, however, were burned, as well as some of the contents.

So fiercely did the fire rage that 1800 feet of hose were laid across the bridge into Newton and attached to a hydrant there in order to gain added water pressure.

The fire was visible for miles and attracted more than 3000 spectators, most of them motorists whose cars caused a traffic jam and hindered the firefighters. A detail of 20 police officers was dispatched to the plant.

U.S. Check Plan Snags Lady Iris

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Statuesque Lady Iris Mounbatten O'Malley, 27, who like King George VI of Great Britain is a great grandchild of Queen Victoria, appeared in night court last night in a check case which she said arose from her misunderstanding of American banking practices.

Lady Iris, who came to this country last October and said she has entered publicly work, was arrested by police at the apartment of a friend on a Washington warrant accusing her of issuing a worthless check for $895 in payment for two dresses. After arraignment, conducted privately before Chief Magistrate Edgar Bromberger, she was released in custody of Sir Francis Evans, British consul general here, for a hearing next Tuesday.

The red-haired blonde Englishwoman told the court she did not know that it was an offense to issue a check without sufficient funds in the bank to cover it, and that in England the bank would communicate with the person writing such a check and direct that the overdraft be covered.

Lady Iris said she had retained the name O'Malley after her divorce from Capt. Hamilton O'Malley of the Irish Guards, whom she married in 1941. She is the only daughter of the Marquess and Marchioness of Cambridge, and a cousin of Lord Louis Mountbatten, viceroy of India.

2 Missing Girls Safe, on Visit

The odyssey of two ten-age West Roxbury girls, who alarmed their relatives and alerted police, ended on a bright note today when they were found in the home of an East Boston friend with whom they had spent the night.

Joan Murphy, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Murphy, Edgemere rd., and Marie Schubbe, 15, who lives with her uncle, Charles Swanson, also in Edgemere rd., West Roxbury, went riding last night with two young cavaliers.

Later the two girls decided to spend the night with Rita Kelle, 17, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Kelle, Sumner st., East Boston.

They overlooked one minor detail. They forgot to report their decision to the Swansons or the Murphys, who finally called police.

Mrs. Kelle said she thought the girls had told their home folks they were going to spend the night with Rita.

South End Man Admits Roxbury Break in 1928

A 63-year-old South End man, who told police he had done 13 years in State Prison for the armed robbery of two Roxbury stores in 1928, was being held today on suspicion of breaking and entering and the larceny of a suit and three alarm clocks.

The suspect, a City Hospital employee, told police he did not remember where he had committed the break from which he stole the loot.

Bugsy's Virginia Hill Denies Suicide Plan

By ROBERT CHASEUIL

NICE, France, July 16 (INS)—The fabulous Virginia Hill, reportedly marked for death by underworld triggermen because of her knowledge of the murdered Benjamin ("Bugsy") Siegel's activities, denied today that she attempted suicide last week. In a statement issued through her nurse, the attractive 30-year-old mystery girl in whose palatial California home Siegel was slain June 30—explained her hospitalization in Monaco.

Authorities revealed she had been found unconscious in her room July 8 at an exclusive Monte Carlo hotel. An emptied tube of sleeping pills reportedly was found beside her, leading to the report she had tried to take her own life.

Records at the Monaco Hospital showed Virginia had been treated for "intoxicating effects" of an overdose of a sleeping drug. The record said she was not in a comatose state when admitted, but was hysterical.

Virginia, however, said a nervous breakdown due to all the unfavorable publicity following the shocking news of Siegel's murder necessitated the hospitalization.

Following her release the day after being admitted to the hospital, the 30-year-old Virginia retired to semi-seclusion in the Reserve de Beaulieu—a luxurious Riviera hotel, midway between Nice and Monte Carlo.

Virginia's nurse quoted the American girl as saying: "While in Paris I had a nervous breakdown because I loved Mr. Siegel so much. I decided to go to the Riviera because there were too many distractions in Paris."

"I arrived at the Monte Carlo Beach Hotel and received reports of what newspapers were saying about me in America. Then I had another, and worse, breakdown and was rushed to the hospital."

The nurse, an English-speaking woman, said Virginia is depressed and spends hours without talking. She added that her patient does not fear gangsters who reportedly are trailing her, and has not asked French police for protection.

Monte Carlo police records show no entry of a suicide attempt, indicating that if Virginia actually did swallow the complete contents of the sleeping-pill bottle—as originally reported—it apparently was without suicidal intent.

4 Towns Fight Fire In Wellesley Plant

Firemen of four communities were given a stiff, two-hour battle early today when a general alarm fire destroyed a large shed filled with finished lumber and partially burned two others at the plant of the Grossman Lumber Co., in Washington st., Wellesley. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Two Wellesley patrolmen, Alfred Fisher and Leo Armitage, discovered the blaze while cruising in the vicinity of the plant, and radioed the alarm. By the time the local firefighters arrived on the scene, one large shed was a mass of flames.

The second alarm brought firemen and apparatus from Newton, Needham and Waltham.

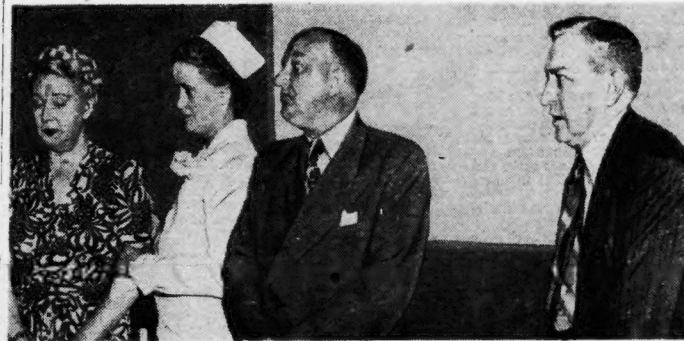

Efforts were concentrated in saving the two adjoining sheds from total destruction. The sides of both buildings, however, were burned, as well as some of the contents.

So fiercely did the fire rage that 1800 feet of hose were laid across the bridge into Newton and attached to a hydrant there in order to gain added water pressure.

The fire was visible for miles and attracted more than 3000 spectators, most of them motorists whose cars caused a traffic jam and hindered the firefighters. A detail of 20 police officers was dispatched to the plant.

HASTINGS, Neb., July 16

(AP)—It was a beautiful wedding but the bridegroom missed it.

The organist at the First Methodist Church played nuptial music. The soloist sang, the candles were lighted and the bridal party welcomed some 100 guests.

Then Rev. Ralph Rasmussen rose to his feet and told the assemblage that Robert Kellog and Miss Phyllis Osterhuhr had been married a few hours earlier so that Kellog could be rushed to the hospital for an emergency appendectomy.

U.S. Check Plan Snags Lady Iris

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Statuesque Lady Iris Mountbatten O'Malley, 27, who like King George VI of Great Britain is a great grandchild of Queen Victoria, appeared in night court last night in a check case which she said arose from her misunderstanding of American banking practices.

Lady Iris, who came to this country last October and said she has entered publicity work, was arrested by police at the apartment of a friend on a Washington warrant accusing her of issuing a worthless check for $88.95 in payment for two dresses. After arraignment, conducted privately before Chief Magistrate Edgar Bromberger, she was released in custody of Sir Francis Evans, British consul general here, for a hearing next Tuesday.

The red-haired blonde Englishwoman told "the" she did not know that it was an offense to issue a check without sufficient funds in the bank to cover it, and that in England the bank would communicate with the person writing such a check and direct that the overdraft be covered.

Lady Iris said she had retained the name O'Malley after her divorce from Capt. Hamilton O'Malley of the Irish Guards, whom she married in 1941. She is the only daughter of the Marquess and Marchioness of Carisbrooke, and a cousin of Lord Louis Mountbatten, viceroy of India.

2 Missing Girls Safe, on Visit

The odyssey of two ten-age West Roxbury girls, who alarmed their relatives and alerted police, ended on a bright note today when they were found in the home of an East Boston friend with whom they had spent the night.

Joan Murphy, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Murphy, Edgemere rd., and Marie Schutte, 15, who lives with her uncle, Charles Swanson, also in Edgemere rd., West Roxbury, went riding last night with two young cavaliers.

Later, the two girls decided to spend the night with Rita Kelble, 17, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Kelble, Summer st., East Boston.

They overlooked one minor detail. They forgot to report their decision to the Swansons or the Murphys, who finally called police.

Mrs. Kelble said she thought the girls had told their home folks they were going to spend the night with Rita.

South End Man Admits Roxbury Break in 1928

A 62-year-old South End man, who told police he had done 13 years in State Prison for the armed robbery of two Roxbury stores in 1928, was being held today on suspicion of breaking and entering and the larceny of a suit and three alarm clocks.

The suspect, a City Hospital employee, told police he did not remember where he had committed the break from which he stole the loot.

Mother of 3 Relates Mt. McKinley Climb

A diminutive flashing-eyed 110-pound woman, mother of three children, today told the Boston American how it feels to climb Alaska's highest peak with the hazardous, Army-sponsored "Operation White Tower," in search of new data for atomic development.

In company of 12 men—scientists, explorers and observers—Mrs. Barbara Washburn, 32, wife of the leader of the expedition, Bradford Washburn, director of the N. E. Museum of Natural History—scaled Mt. McKinley and lived in igloos, 20,000 feet in the sky, in temperatures ranging from 10 to 20 degrees below zero.

Bundled in heavy men's woolen underwear, plus fur parkas, three pairs of thick woolen socks, four pairs of mittens and woolen shirts and pants she was testing for the WAC's, Mrs. Washburn, who is five feet one inch of blithe courage, toted her full, allotted pack of 35 pounds on all climbs.

"The only time I was a little afraid," she recounted, "was when I was alone, not far from the peak, in a tiny igloo we had built there, and a wind storm began howling. We had run out of gasoline and the men had gone down to our previous camp to get some. I just kept watching the sky and got myself ready to shovel myself out. But the wind died down and the men were able to return."

She married the famous explorer in 1937 and they celebrated their 10th anniversary while climbing the mountain.

"All 13 of us managed to get together that night, in the igloo," she recalled, "and the boys serenaded us. What a songfest we had—and what a lot of fun. The pilot who had taken us over even had his wife bake an angel cake and he parachuted it to us."

Their cooking was done on tiny gasoline stoves and with pressure cookers. Since they took frozen food she said they ate well of all needed foods such as vegetables and fruits, normally impossible on long mountain climbs.

"My greatest thrill," Mrs. Washburn declared, "was seeing my children when I returned and finding I could again walk around without having a rope tied around me."

Her two oldest, Dorothy, 6, and Edward, 5, now play at climbing mountains.

Her youngest, Betty, 1, is too young to join in the fun. "But she'll catch on," Mrs. Washburn declared confidently.

A-Bomb Factory To Be Permanent

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—The United States is putting its atom bomb factory on a permanent basis.

The first A-bomb was made there two years ago.

executive committee formally opened the session with a meeting at the State House.

Business sessions start tomorrow morning at Symphony Hall, when State Com. Lawrence J. Quigley will call the convention to order.

The convention, expected to be the biggest in the department's history, will be highlighted by important resolutions dealing with national defense, veterans housing, universal military training, pensions and foreign affairs.

Resolutions numbering more than 100 already have been received by John J. Burke, of Medford, chairman of the resolutions committee. Deadline for filing of resolutions is noon tomorrow.

Unusual interest is being shown this year in the election of a state commander to succeed Quigley. A two-man fight for the coveted position is under way between Harold M. Rogers, of Wellesey, and John Sullivan, of Watertown.

It had been reported that Jake Lindsay, of Lexington, Congressional Medal of Honor holder, also was a candidate for the high office, but the hero, now attached to the U. S. Army Recruiting Service said he was seeking reelection as a vice commander.

During the three day session, prominent national, state and city officials will address the convention, as well as top ranking Army, Navy and Veteran Administration officials.

Climaxing the convention will be the annual parade through the downtown section of the city. More than 40 bands and 10,000 marchers are expected to participate.

The route as announced by Andrew P. McArdle, chairman of the parade committee, is as follows: Starting point, Commonwealth ave. and Hereford st., proceeding to Arlington st. to Boylston st., turning into Tremont st. to Temple pl., Washington st. to School st. and thence to Beacon st. to Arlington st., where it will disband. The parade will start promptly at 2:30 p. m.

The account said she was "considerably improved" after her first bath and that she left her wheel chair and took several steps without aid.

The newspaper said the Lourdes bureau of certification, composed of doctors, priest and laymen, would delay any pronouncement on a possible cure for one year.

Congress Warned Of Recession Peril

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, July 16 (INS)—Former Price Administrator Leon Henderson warned Congress today that "unless something is done and done promptly" America faces a postwar collapse like the 1920-21 slump following World War I. Henderson laid before the Joint Economic Committee the nine-point program of Americans for Democratic Action, which he said is designed to "head off a recession."

Addressing the same committee, Sen. O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming said that business generally is following a short sighted policy by failing to cut prices now even though at the risk of some losses.

Henderson said that ADA, whose executive committee he heads, see "little immediate danger of a major depression," adding "That danger lies some few years ahead. We do, however, see the danger of a repitition of the collapse which in 1920 and 1921 followed World War I."

"Last time, we paid for the boom in the collapse of 1920 and 1921. Unless something is done and done promptly, we're going to pay for today's boom the same way. For today, just as in 1920, prices have been allowed to get out of hand. Once again, the price structure is shot through with distortions and imbalances."

Henderson contradicted testimony of the National Ass'n Manufacturers that wage increases have outdistanced price boosts. He said that since the end of price control in June, 1946, "prices have run away from wages and have cut deeply into the savings and current purchasing power and into the actual consumption of the great majority of our people."

O'Mahoney declared that if industry would "help hold down the cost of living now, it would more than make up in the long run whatever it might sacrifice by price reductions."

Steel Scrap Jumps To All-Time High

NEW YORK, July 16 (INS)—Iron Age, national metalworking

NEW CAR DELAY

DETROIT, July 16 (AP)—General Motors will take a week of from manufacturing passenger cars, starting Monday, because of the steel industry's "disturbed conditions."

GM, making roughly half of the nation's automobiles, said its steel supplies were too short to permit full-time operations. It blamed the coal mining situation of early July.

Ultimately 180,000 workers will be laid off from the corporation's assembly lines, halting a weekly output of 30,000 cars.

weekly, reported today that the price of steel scrap jumped to an all-time high this week despite President Truman's plea for a stay in the rise of steel prices.

The magazine disclosed that the average price of scrap steel is now placed at 54 cents a ton above the previous record made in June, 1917, when the average price reached $37.21 a gross ton.

Iron Age declared the steel industry is considerably more anxious over the fact that the average price of scrap today in the three major consuming centers, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Philadelphia, is already $8.25 above the low for 1947, reached around the middle of May.

The union said votes cast by 400 of the UAW's locals showed 1043 for the merger; 2882 against.

13 White Children From Quincy Visit Families in Harlem

NEW YORK, July 16—In what their pastors described as "an attempt to show the folly of racial intolerance," 12 white girls and a white boy from Quincy, Mass., today began a two-weeks stay as guests in the homes of Negro families in Harlem.

SURRENDERS — Mrs. Doris Coppola, 25, New York, ex-showgirl wife of "Trigger Mike" Coppola, surrendered to police in that city today for questioning in the election day slaying of Joseph Scottorigio. She has been ordered held as a material witness.

Ingalls Denies Threats Held Maid a Slave

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 16 (AP)—Alfred Wesley Ingalls, former Massachusetts legislator and lawyer, told a federal court jury that a missionary complex caused his wife to feel she had a responsibility towards Dora Jones, the Negro maid the Ingalls are charged with enslaving.

Ingalls, who continues his testimony today, said this feeling was based in part on an affair of nearly 40 years ago between Dora, now 58, and Mrs. Ingalls' first husband, Walter Harman of Washington, D. C.

He denied the government contention that he and his wife reduced Dora to slavery by threatening her with jail because of alleged intimacies with Harman and subsequent abortion.

Mrs. Ingalls, 62, who first met Dora as a missionary school teacher in Athens, Ala., in 1905, completed three days of testimony just before her husband took the stand yesterday. She told the jury she considered that Communism, Nazism, the FBI and her two daughters were aligned against her.

he daughters, Ruth Castendyk of Chicago and Mrs. Helen Roberts of Berkeley, Cal., had both denied they were Communists or Nazis.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls testified that, though Dora Jones had received no pay except for one year since she entered the Harman home in Washington, D. C., in 1907, they had made financial arrangements for her.

These included, they told the jury, a provision in their will, some telephone and copper mine stock and a joint bank account with Mrs. Ingalls.

he Bay State visitors are here from Quincy Point Congregational Church to return last summer's visit of 22 Negro children from Grace Congregational Church of Harlem.

The experiment is sponsored jointly by the two churches. Rev. Bedros Baharian, pastor of the Quincy church, also is in Harlem as house guest of Rev. Herbert King, pastor of the Negro families where the visitors will live for the next 14 days.

On the entertainment schedule for the Quincy youths are the regular social and recreational activities of the Negro children in the homes where they are staying: joint trips to the Statue of Liberty, the New York Zoological Park in the Bronx, a tour of Harlem, a boat ride up the Hudson, a picnic at Bear Mountain, parties, dinners, stunt night at the church, and a visit to United Nations headquarters at Lake Success.

The Quincy visitors range in age from 14 to 19. Jean Nail of Thompson st., Quincy, is the oldest. She and nine other girls arrived here by train, escorted by Miss Effie Waddell, executive secretary of the Quincy Family Welfare Society. Three girls and the lone boy, Lindsay Tait, drove down from Quincy with Mr. Baharian.

Others among the visitors are Barbara Nail, Jean's younger sister, Margaret Anderson, Jessie Bartholomew, Joyce Ecker, Charlotte Peterson, Lois Burnham, Ruth Babcock, Delphine Allen, Dorothy Severance, Margaret Milne and Virginia Chase.

Mr. King would not divulge the names of the Negro families who are hosts to the visitors.

"I know what will happen. We will have a lot of curious people running around after these children," he said. "I am also afraid that photographers will be taking all kinds of silly pictures that may give the project a black eye before we have a chance to prove its worthiness."

Some fears were expressed by Harlem residents that the young visitors might be from wealthy homes and accustomed to servants and service which they would not find in the New York Negro section. But Mr. Baharian explained that Quincy was a middle class community.

Officially named, "The Young People's Summer Seminar," the program is being financed by the Harlem parish. Mr. King said his parishioners had raised $1300 for expenses. Mrs. Eva Taylor Parks, chairman of the Harlem church entertainment committee, explained when Negro children visited in Quincy last summer, the Quincy people "made it so pleasant that our children invited them back here."

First-day activities provided fun for both hosts and visitors. There were squeals of joy when seven Quincy girls found friends whom they had entertained last summer. Shortly before they all sat down to dinner—they all had their first meal together—the children were singing to the tune of The Old Gray Mare:

"Here we are like birds in the wilderness, Birds in the wilderness, Birds in the wilderness, Here we are like birds in the wilderness, waiting to be fed." But the youngsters hardly had got through the second verse when their singing was halted by heaping platters of roast beef, potatoes, peas, carrots and beets. There chocolate and vanilla ice cream for dessert.

IT SAYS HERE

CHICAGO, July 16 (AP)—In an article in the current Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Ass'n, authorities recommended a medicine as "preventive of naturally occurring enteric diseases of poultry."

They explained "enteric pathogenesis" is a disease more commonly known as "blackhead." And "poultis," they added, are just young turkeys.

The medicine recommended was:

"Dilute dimethylphenylammonium chloride."

Jury Weighs Kiss-Kill Case, Few At Rites

NEW YORK, July 16—The grand jury opened a probe of the murder of blonde Sheila Manning today after the 49-year-old kiss-kill victim whose address books indicated she had hundreds of friends, mostly men, was laid to rest in a funeral attended by only five persons.

Two detectives and the doorman from the West 57th st. apartment house where Sheila's unclad body, a towel stuffed in her throat, was found last Wednesday, mingled with a group of about 50 who gathered outside the Bronx funeral chapel where a simple, five-minute service was read by an Episcopalian minister. The doorman was brought along in the hope he might spot some of Sheila's as yet unquestioned friends.

Inside the chapel Sheila's body lay in a closed casket on which there was a single floral tribute—a spray of gladioli and Easter lilies. Those present were her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Waldron; a cousin, Mrs. Ruth Gartland and her husband, Philip, all of Denver, and David Charles, a New York attorney.

Principal witness at today's grand jury investigation in the Criminal Courts building was scheduled to be Jacob Rosen, 53-year-old married textile executive. Rosen, who was Sheila's dinner companion on the Sunday and Monday nights before the murder, was questioned at length after discovery of the body. He had admitted ownership of several articles of clothing found in the murder apartment, police reported.

Westwood Woman Hurt In Bus-Truck Collision

One passenger was injured today when a bus and a trailer-truck collided in Washington st., West Roxbury.

Florence M. Walsh, Pond st., Westwood, was taken to City Hospital with a possible ankle fracture. The bus, carrying 11 passengers, was driven by James H. Fields, Grove st., Upton. Operator of the truck was Elmer F. Small, Dow st., West Somerville.

More Heat To Follow East Wind

A light east wind, cavorting at 10 miles an hour but due to increase to a robust 20 miles an hour, blew temporary relief to Boston and other coastal cities and town but left inland dwellers still sweltering today.

It will be hot and humid again tomorrow, the weather man reported gloomily, and when the sun goes down this evening, the east wind will have blown itself out. Lowest temperature tonight will be about 70.

Meanwhile, six drownings were reported from crowded New England beaches and lakes. Public health officials repeated a warning against overeating as a number of swimmers were reported saved from death after they had been seized with stomach cramps.

Among drowning victims were two 16-year-old Brookline youths who went down in the waters of Lomasney Beach on the Charles river before the eyes of the mother and sister of one of them.

They were John E. Roberts, Jr., Egmont st., and Robert Cooney, Browne st. Rescuers worked more than an hour in efforts to revive them after their bodies were recovered.

John's mother, Mrs. Genevieve Roberts, and his sister, Valerie, 11, witnessed the tragedy.

Army-Navy Bill OK Expected Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—A bill to unify the Army, Navy and Air Forces under a single cabinet officer has been cleared for action in the House, probably tomorrow.

A similar measure already has been passed by the Senate. With House acceptance of the version by its expenditures committee regarded as certain, the two chambers will have only a handful of disagreements to settle before sending the proposal to the White House.

LA GUARDIA 'SICK MAN'

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Former Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, who was operated on June 18 for a pancreas condition, was described today by his physician as "quite a sick man." Dr. George Becker said LaGuardia's convalescence was "extremely slow."

COOLING—

Efforts of Victoria Thomas of Cambridge and Gloria Guile of Boston to cool themselves off during the current heat wave led the girls to the Public Garden where they take a refreshing foot bath in the pond. The weatherman predicts very warm weather will continue for next few days. The heat escapees are students at the Adventurers' Model Guild, Back Bay.

Blood-Stains Shown Yacht Death Jury

By JAMES PADGITT

SANTA ANA, Cal., July 16 (INS)—The Overall yacht murder case jury today was considering a blood-clotted shirtwaist which was identified as worn by Beulah Louise Overall, 18, on trial with George "Bud" Gollum for the murder of her parents.

The shirtwaist was introduced in a surprise move by the prosecution and was identified by Capt. Thomas McGaff of the Orange County sheriff's office as having been found in the basement of the Overall mansion after the girl's arrest.

Earlier, the prosecution produced testimony concerning blood-stained clothing belonging to Gollum, who explained to officers it had been spotted when Louise had a nosebleed some time prior to the murders.

McGaff said that Louise denied that she had ever had the nosebleed described by Gollum to account for his blood-stained trousers.

The State charges that Miss Overall and Gollum bludgeoned her wealthy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overall, to death and then dynamited their yacht in Newport harbor to erase traces of the crime.

Aimed Injections Go to Right Spot in Treatment of TB

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—A new method of giving medicine, which he calls "aimed injections," where the drug goes mainly to one place or to one sick organ, was explained depending on "aim," and has been used to cure tuberculosis in Guinea pigs and rabbits. It has not been used for humans.

The Gegkwitz method is like a game where balls of different sizes are rolled to stop in holes whose sizes also vary, and the size that fits stops a ball.

His medical balls are the tiny crystals that form many different kinds of drugs. These crystals are too small to be seen without a microscope.

For tuberculosis he uses crystals made of one or another of the Azo dyes, which are used industrially for red, yellow or blue colors. To be trapped in the lungs, the Azo crystals are needle-shaped. They are about the shape and size of red blood corpuscles which go to the lungs for oxygen.

WEATHER FORECAST ALL SUMMER LONG—COOL AND COMFORTABLE WITH AIR CONDITIONING

It's as good as a raise in salary! Yes, indeed, if you learn to take the automatic way—the principle is to get a dollar's worth of goods with 10¢ less price and you can't help but save money. Here's how it works for you—All merchandise is priced low to start with—any merchandise that remains unsold at the end of 30 selling days is given away—but very little ever gets to that point for whatever remains after 30 selling days is reduced 1/2 in price—after 60 selling days the price is reduced 1/2—after 90 selling days the price is reduced 1/2. Hence it still remains to be given to charitable institutions because L.A.W. prices are 1/2 below base.

Son Uses Pistol To Get Wedding OK

One way or another, a 21-year-old East Boston veteran was going to get his father's consent to marry the girl of his choice—even if he had to flash a pistol.

Police today said he did just that, even though the pistol may have been empty. They said, "I pointed the gun at my father," he allegedly told police, "to see how he'd feel about the marriage."

"He said he felt all right about it then."

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS.—On Wednesday, July 23, 1947, at about 9:30 A. M., a public hearing will be held in the office of the Board of Appeal, Room 907, City Hall Annex, in reference to the Appeal of City of Boston Public Works Department, asking to vary the terms of the Zoning Law, Chapter 18A, Acts of 1924, as amended, at premises, 215 Western Avenue, Ward 22, in the following respect: (Sections 5 and 7), permit incineration of dead portions of lot located in a local business (L-65) district.

Trend of the Family

There's Pop—and Mom—and the kids—somehow all of them have to get together on which car it will be for the family.

Well, if you go by the pollsters, there's no problem.

One poll asked the youngsters who are old enough to have fixed opinions which car they preferred.

It was Buick—head and shoulders.

Another went to the ladies, guardians of the family pocketbook.

And running way ahead of other cars at its price—staging a nip-and-tuck battle for second with one of the “lowest-priced three”—was this Buick beauty, trim and fresh and gay as a Paris bonnet, new as tomorrow in looks and line.

As for the men—

Is a poll necessary to show how men go for the lift and swing of eight great Fireball cylinders?

Do you have to ask to find out that they prefer a car big and steady and sure-footed on any road as this Buick is?

Is there any man who wouldn't rather have the smoothness of four gentle coil springs, the quick, deep-throated answer of this star performer to his treadle-foot, the sense of perfect mastery of two generous tons that are ever “obediently yours”?

The answer's written on the order books of Buick dealers from coast to coast: This is America's most wanted automobile.

This is the one the whole family goes for—on style, on size, on room, on power, on performance—so why, not join the trend?

We'll take your order any time you say—and give it equal consideration whether or not you have a car to trade.

ONLY BUICK HAS ALL THESE STAR FEATURES

Ellis Parker, Jr., Wins Divorce Recommendation
CAMDEN, N. J., July 16 (AP) — Ellis H. Parker, Jr., of Mt. Holly, N. J., won a divorce recommendation in Camden chancery court.

The son of the late Burlington county detective testified his wife's affection cooled after he came out of prison, that she barred him from her room for two years and finally deserted him. With his father and others, Parker was convicted of kidnaping and forcing a confession from a Trenton lawyer, Paul H. Wendell, in the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

Communists Trying to Halt U. S. Training, VFW Charges

Special Boston Evening American
HARRISBURG, Pa., July 16—Quislings and Communists are waging a propaganda war against universal military training for America, Sen. Edward Martin (R.) of Pennsylvania warned the state encampment of Veterans of Foreign Wars here.

TOILET LABORATORIES, INC., WASHINGTON 25, D.C.

"Pick up any Communist propaganda sheet and you discover indignant opposition to America's building its strength to defend itself," he said. "The Communist says that for us to prepare is war mongering. Yet Soviet Russia has compulsory military training behind its iron curtain. Today it is drilling and teaching its young men to fight and to defend themselves. It has a much larger standing army than we have."

Martin, ex-governor of Pennsylvania and a war veteran who served in every rank from buck private to major general, added: "It is not surprising that every Communist in America opposes training American youth in defense."

"I don't mean that all Americans who oppose universal training are Quislings or Communists—but I do mean that all Quislings and Communists oppose military training."

Sen. Martin expressed disappointment in the failure of Congress to enact a universal military training law this session.

DAV Urges Congress Pass Training Program

WASHINGTON, July 15—Disabled American Veterans today called on Congress to "give the prospective fighting man a reasonable chance to survive it and when another war should come," by enacting a universal military training program.

"Our experiences in World Wars I and II should teach us the folly of sending untrained men into battle," DAV said in a formal statement. "In our haste to make up for lost time we wasted thousands of lives and billions of dollars."

DAV urged the Towe bill, calling for a one-year civilian training program to include not less than six months' basic training and subsequent training in the National Guard, organized reserves, ROTC, key industries or the regular services.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WHEN THE BRITISH loan, Bernard Baruch, who has always been their friend, went to that country to tell them that it was an unwise and unnecessary step. At that time, Churchill was still in command and in his presence, Baruch and John Maynard Keynes got into a row over the economics of the loan as well as over the general economics of Great Britain.

On that occasion, Baruch strongly advised the British that the loan of $3,750,000,000 would not help them; that they would serve themselves more advantageously if they increased their productivity by longer hours of work and greater expenditure of energy. This ran counter to Keynes's socialism and the general trend towards nationalization.

In due course, Churchill was eliminated. Keynes died. Britain went Socialist, flirted with anti-Americanism, got the loan, wasted most of it and is now in an extremely difficult position.

Actually, as Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the council, has at last publicly admitted, Britain needs another loan. He said:

"We cannot go on indefinitely importing what we cannot pay for, and I must tell the House quite frankly that it may come to this—and a tragically bad day it would be for us, for Europe and the world's hopes for prosperity."

SOCIALISM cannot be made to work among a free people, which is England's difficulty. Socialism can be made to work in a police state such as Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin produced.

A free people can refuse to work or can work only as much as they choose, or as much as they think worth while. The contradiction of a free political and economic system produces unsolvable confusions.

To this must be added the fact that Britain's prosperity is still based upon the prosperity and well-being of the continent of Europe. As long as German industry is moribund, the prosperity of Europe can not be established. As long as Germany is in political and economic chaos, Britain does not have a chance of well-being.

Germany is the economic heart of Europe and if the heart is sick, the rest of the body will not function well. This Herbert Hoover made clear in his reports on Europe.

Our government dare not face this problem openly and calmly for obvious domestic and political reasons. The war with Germany is too recent. Too many Americans fear a reconstructed Germany. Too many assumed that such a Germany would mean World War III, although in recent months many have come to recognize what has been true since 1920 that our eventual enemy must be Soviet Russia.

AT ANY RATE, the politicians are not willing in an election year to admit that the real purpose of all the maneuvering at Paris is the reconstruction of Europe with Germany at the center. That is what we are getting it.

Even in the State Department, there are those who still cling to the barbarous Morgenthau plan and the monstrous directive JCS 1067, but generally, those who are handling the problem recognize that costly errors were made at Yalta and Potsdam that require rectification.

Even they fear the big city vote, particularly in race-con-

Gen. Cramer Due To Inspect YD

CAMP EDWARDS, July 16—Camp officials readied a 13-gun salute today to greet the arrival of Maj. Gen. Kenneth L. Cramer, commanding the 43d Infantry of the National Guard, on his arrival by plane at Otis Field for a two-day inspection of the Yankee Division now training here.

Maj. Gen. Horace L. McBride, commanding the First Service Command, and Maj. Gen. William L. Rose, commanding general of the 28th Division, and a special guard of honor were on hand to greet Gen. Cramer whose name has been submitted to the Senate as successor to Maj. Gen. Butler B. Miltonberger as chief of the National Guard bureau.

scious New York, to speak the truth.

All this the Russians understand. They use every means to force this country into a position of frank support of a reconstructed Germany. They recognize Britain's embarrassment and dilemma and they are forcing the British into frankness. Then the Russians will tell all the nations that suffered at the hands of the Nazi, that live within the shadow of Nazi brutality, that they have been abandoned by the United States and Great Britain who are rebuilding Germany to crush them again. In this role, Soviet Russia becomes the great liberator.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE are not accustomed to playing at this sort of game. They do not understand his crooked rules. They will fail at it.

The only road to success is candor. Germany must be reconstructed economically if aid to Britain and Europe is not to be an everlasting drain upon us. It takes courage for a politician to tell the truth—but there have been courageous politicians.

Perfect Finish For Hairdo

ARE YOU HAVING difficulty keeping those stray wisps of hair in place? Or does your hair-do fall down because your hair is either so soft it won't stay up . . . or because your hair is unmanageable and refuses to stay in place?

The other day a small package reached our desk . . . containing a bottle of fragrant liquid and an atomizer . . . and immediately we went to work experimenting with it. Here was a quick-drying hair dress essential that gave a finishing touch to the hair-do.

It is definitely not a lacquer . . . but a fragrant mist which doesn't leave hair stiff or sticky . . . or any flaky deposits. But it does leave the hair delightfully scented . . . and gives body to even the softest hair. It sets and holds wisps, strands and curls in place with professional éclat.

After each application hair can be combed easily and prettily . . . and you'll find that your hair has more soft lustre and sparkle than before it was used. It can be used for any hair style . . . upsweep, page boy, or glamor bob.

And if you use it with a wave set . . . simply spray the hair while still damp and have curls pinned in. This "plastic" mist will give it enough body to help set and retain the wave . . . and also makes it possible to comb through hair which resists combing.

For our up-do . . . it is the perfect touch to hold back wisps where they belong . . . and to give the elegance of an upsweep its radiant due. Because it isn't a lacquer . . . there is no film over the hair. Whatever the formula of this unusual hair completer . . . it serves well its purpose of beautifying the hair-do.

Because it can be sprayed over the hair . . . the process is very simple . . . and you get the feeling that you are giving your hair-do the same kind of professional attention you get in a beauty hair salon—R. M.

For the name of this perfect finish for a beautiful hairdo, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except week-end, or write to Ruth Mugglesbee, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Marshall Asks Higher Alien Quota

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—State Sec. Marshall urged today that the United States admit a "substantial number" of Europe's 850,000 displaced persons, partly to remove a source of "conflict and friction" with Russia.

Marshall told a House judiciary subcommittee that to accede to repeated Russian demands and forcibly return "these allies of ours" to their prewar homes would violate both American tradition and principles adopted by the United Nations General Assembly.

But as long as they remain in Germany and until they can strike new roots elsewhere in friendly soil, the displaced persons will remain a "constant source of international friction," Marshall said. His testimony was prepared in support of a bill to admit 400,000 of the refugees into the United States as immigrants over a four-year period.

Price Code Revival Scheme Charged

WASHINGTON, July 14 (INS)—Sen. Williams (R.) of Delaware, accused government agencies of manipulating markets in "deliberate attempts by the Administration" to have price controls restored.

In a speech, Williams assailed the Commodity Credit Corp. for buying 38,000,000 bushels of wheat when its demands were only 17,000,000 bushels.

The Senator maintained that after the heavy January buying, while transportation was at its worst, the CCC bought 2,500,000 bushels in the next three months.

He accused CCC of over-buying their corn requirements by 250 per cent and declared "no group of men can be that stupid."

Q—Last year I dusted with rotenone and the insects did not die at once. Was the material old?

A—Not necessarily. Keep in mind that rotenone does not kill instantly. It paralyzes the insect first. Try it again, as it is a good insecticide.

Q—Is sulfamate a good poison ivy eradicant?

A—Materials that contain sulfamates are very effective against poison ivy as the chemical enters the leaves and is then transported to the roots. In this way it kills the whole plant.

Q—Is it practical to spray garden soil just before planting to kill surface weeds?

A—Certain naphtha solvents sprayed on young, tender weed growth will surely kill them. This can be done after seeds are planted, just before they come up. Timing is the important factor. Worth a trial in the home garden.

Q—Can you tell me the variety name of the honeysuckle that has large orange colored flowers?

A—This is listed in seed catalogues as Flame.

Q—How often should DDT spray be used to be effective?

A—On growing plants the new growth must be covered every 10 days to 2 weeks. Household sprays will last for 4 to 6 weeks.

Q—Will 2, 4-D weed killer kill blackberry and yarrow?

A—This chemical has not proved effective on these two plants.

Million N. E. Vets To Get Medals

Army and Navy officials today announced plans and procedures for the distribution of American Defense Service and War II Victory medals to more than 1,000,000 eligible ex-service-men and women in the New England area.

Veterans are urged to apply for the medals in person at the various distribution points set up by their former service commands and must present discharge papers to prove eligibility.

Those who served on active duty between Sept. 8, 1939, and Dec. 7, 1941, are eligible for the American Defense Service Medal. The Victory Medal is awarded for active duty in the armed forces at any time between Dec. 7, 1941, and Dec. 31, 1946.

The First Service Command announced the medals will be available at the Army Base and Fort Banks, Boston; Fort Adams, Rhode Island; Fort Preble, Maine; Fort Rodman, New Bedford; Springfield Armory, Springfield; Fort Myles Standish, Taunton, and Fort Williams, Maine. Ex-Navy personnel may obtain the medals at any naval recruiting station or sub-station.

11 Nations to Work On Jap Treaty

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—The United States has called an 11-nation conference here Aug. 19 to begin work on a peace treaty for Japan.

A State Department press official, disclosing this today, described the meeting as preliminary, to be devoted to technicalities of drawing up the pact. The work of completing a draft undoubtedly will require months.

Pope Receives 14 U. S. Laborites

VATICAN CITY, July 16 (AP)—Pope Pius XII today received 14 members of the U. S. delegation to the 30th International Labor Conference which ended at Geneva Friday, and told them the Catholic Church would "always defend" the worker "against any system which would deny his inalienable rights."

The American—representatives of the U. S. State and Labor Departments and of American labor organizations—will sail from Naples tomorrow aboard the Satornia, leaving their chief, David A. Morse, to confer at Geneva.

MONEY FOR PROPAGANDA

THE QUARREL between the State Department and Congress over money really has little to do with money at all. Everyone recognizes that the United States needs funds for propaganda and the distribution of truthful and accurate news.

False stories about the United States are constantly being published in all parts of the world circulated by the enemies of this country.

Surely, it is the function of the State Department to guard our good reputation and to see that we get a square deal.

With regard to this general principle, there is no difference of opinion.

However, since the organization of the OWI by Elmer Davis, the propaganda agencies of the United States have been managed ineptly, carelessly and often to the country's damage.

Somewhat the OWI became the headquarters for Leftists, Communists, screwballs and aliens.

Much of the bad reputation which this country now enjoys in Europe is actually a product of the work of the OWI.

Well, that agency was abolished and its work was taken over by the State Department, under the management of William Benton, a former partner of Chester Bowles who ran the OPA.

On more than one occasion, Benton, testifying before a Congressional committee, admitted that he did not know what his organization was doing.

He had not known, for instance, that his agency, a division of the State Department, had rebroadcast a speech by Henry Wallace, attacking President Truman and the very policy that the State Department was then advocating and pursuing.

A MAJOR error of that sort—and there have been others—deserves immediate dismissal of all persons concerned in the operation.

Benton blithely passed it over as a mistake.

How many mistakes of that magnitude can this or any country afford?

Those whose friendship we are trying to win and hold must think that we are loony.

Are we to permit our propaganda agencies to be used against us?

That is why Congress is rowing over this appropriation for propaganda in the State Department. They want Benton out. They want the Communists out. They want the screwballs out.

Secretary of State Marshall threw the Congress a crumb by firing ten unnamed State Department functionaries for security reasons.

Not good enough.

First, the entire crowd must go. A senatorial committee has listed 72. Why not fire all, if they deserve being fired? If they are innocent, why not publish the facts?

Second, Congress wants William Benton to go. All the beating around the bush will not change that.

George Marshall does not like to act under pressure. He has admitted in conference with members of Congress that much is wrong but he wants to make the changes without pressure from outside.

HOSPITAL CRISIS

ALL SERVICES except essential surgery have been curtailed at the Boston City Hospital because of the acute shortage of trained personnel.

That is the disturbing announcement of Dr. James Manary, the institution's director.

"There is an every-day disaster situation at the hospital," Dr. Manary says, "and unless immediate volunteer help is forthcoming, we shall be obliged to close many of our wards."

Meanwhile, our Massachusetts high schools should get ready to inaugurate pre-nursing courses this fall and to encourage competent students to prepare for this fine and necessary profession.

The persistent failure of high schools to recognize the nursing profession is one of the major causes of closed hospital wards.

THE CALIFORNIANS who are continually asking "Can Brooklyn top this?" have been unusually silent for the past couple of weeks. When in the beautiful borough of Brooklyn there was produced a four-legged chicken equipped by nature to lay two eggs at a time, that was something that knocked the Golden State back on their heels. If it had been Rhode Island or Massachusetts or some other well-known chicken raising section center it wouldn't have been so bad. But to have Brooklyn produce a wonder chicken was much too much for the Californians. Their recovery from this blow will be slow.

ASKING: Query from client.

Q.—In a magazine article I read this: "From Tony Pastor's on East Fourteenth street sprang such talent as Fannie Brice, Eddie Cantor and Al Jolson. Pastor gave them their first chance." How about this? Doesn't sound right to me. A—I doubt the entertainers you mention ever appeared at Pastor's at any time. Fannie Brice started in burlesque. Eddie Cantor began in vaudeville as a stooge in the act of Bedini and Arthur. Al Jolson started with the Dock-stader minstrels.

POWER: Some wise old boy said the way to test a man's character is to give him power. That "authority intoxicates" a weak character while a strong man takes it in his stride. This is as true of the top-flight executives, as well as government employees whose position gives them some degree of power. When, for example, you encounter a pleasant, soft-spoken, yet firm highway traffic officer you are encountering a regular fellow; a real man. When you are harassed by an arrogant, fresh, loud-talking highway cop you are meeting a heel; a weak character. It is to be regretted hard-working citizens, whose taxes pay the salaries of government employees, should have to take so much abuse and impudence from the top of all governments. federal, state, county and city, should issue orders that all those under them be polite and courteous to the average citizen—or else!

PASSING BY: The Rev. Thomas Burns. Once heavyweight boxing champion of the world. Now an ordained minister of the gospel in California. Among his pugilistic achievements was fighting and knocking out an Irish heavyweight in Dublin, on St. Patrick's day. Eileen McCay, Secretary of Col. J. R. Kilpatrick, head of Madison Square Garden. Eileen is also president of that highly interesting organization known as the Seraphic Secretaries. . . . Will Judy, Chicago expert on the subject of dogs. A couple of months ago, Will published in his magazine "Dog World" a list of hotels in the United States that welcome guests with dogs. So, if you are going on a trip with your dog, you better get in touch with Will and ask him for a copy of the aforementioned list.

HORSES & WOMEN: A Chicago stenographer threw a blueberry pie directly at the face of her employer. When arrested she said: "I could stand his pomposity no longer. I just obeyed an impulse. It was soul-satisfying." No doubt there are many feminine office workers who will understand just how this young woman felt. Incidentally, it has been stated there are times in the life of every married woman when she feels as if she would enjoy tossing a squash pie directly into the face of her husband. Our Horses & Women Department is trying to check on this claim. Not only do we wish to learn if it is true, but we would like to know the major causes of this alleged desire.

PLEASE NOTE: It has been said, and previously reported here, that when the family is an all-daughter one it proves the husband is a great lover. Many fathers of all-girl families found this a pleasing claim. But somebody is always taking the joy out of life. Now another man of science says that heredity has much to do with all-daughter families. It is pointed out that in France there was a family in which the great grandmother had six daughters, 27 granddaughters and 39 great-granddaughters. That is in three generations there were 72 girls and no boys.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, July 16.—Beginning about the time of the expose last winter of Leo Durocher's relations with accredited members of the underworld of the amusement field, which includes some professional sports, I noticed among some of the journalists who specialize in these interests a reaction which puzzled me. They seemed to resent statements that such an underworld existed.

From the professional standpoint, I thought all of them had a duty to expose this underworld, even though this should call for some leg work, some professional skill and indifference to personal friendships or enmities in the business.

However, it has seemed to me for a long time that many of these pundits have been more ambitious to become celebrities, themselves, however dubious, than to succeed as conventional newspaper reporters.

Celebrities, even the self-made kind who praise and advertise themselves, emphasize their charities and appeal to religion for popularity, are able to cash in as broadcasters and as entertainers of a peculiar sort, called masters of ceremonies, and so forth.

ED SULLIVAN, a columnist who follows this line of journalism for the New York Daily News, is a celebrity of this type. It may be my misfortune, but I have never seen him perform in any theater although I have read hundreds of times, it seems to me, in his own column, little free advertisements of his own theatrical act and sidelong tributes to his inexhaustible zeal in entertaining wounded soldiers at Halloran Hospital on Staten Island and in other hospitals.

Once he related in a mood of justified, I hope, heroism, that on a bleak and brooding morning he and a number of professional showmen from Broadway swallowed their fears and took off nevertheless in a plane for a hospital a few hundred miles down the Atlantic Coast because they simply couldn't let those wounded kids down.

Soldiers who had flown the Hump or the Atlantic and had bombed Germany read this and remarked: "Gad! What courage!" But observed that they had not been proportionately cited for adventures hardly less dangerous.

On a recent date, Mr. Sullivan's column consisted of an open letter to his secretary. Usually his secretary writes to him and in this way is able to congratulate him on remarkable feats of exclusive journalism and prophecy and thank him for kindnesses to others which he might not have the indecency to mention.

IN THIS LETTER to his secretary, Mr. Sullivan said: "The mail you forwarded was pretty dull but there was this letter from Frank Sinatra: 'Thanks so much for your help, all of it, all the time. It's great to know you have friends who are going to throw rocks with all good wishes, Frank.'"

"The rocks were heaved not because they didn't like his singing," Mr. Sullivan wrote his secretary for all of us to read. "They flung them because Sinatra was interested enough to give up his spare time to persuade kids to be nice to minority groups. Now just what is wrong with that?"

I am not obtuse so I assume that this refers to some news concerning Sinatra published within the last year which deviated from the laudatory and purposely rapturous trash which had become standard Sinatra publicity as turned in by the saloon, movie, radio, and gambling house journalists.

His interesting associations in Miami and Havana last winter were reported at the time, although not by these exquisite and, toward the end of the season, this ill-mannered crooner was arrested for slugging a man who wasn't looking in a Hollywood restaurant.

MR. SULLIVAN'S extraordinary sympathy for Sinatra in these circumstances naturally aroused my interest for I believed the tolerance and youth rackets were being invoked in a way that I could think of as only a shade less than blasphemous to create an artificial political character.

I had been pointing out and proving the interlocking relationship between many of the entertainers of the movies, the radio and the night clubs, and gangsters who have established financial and social positions in this fabulously rich realm of our community.

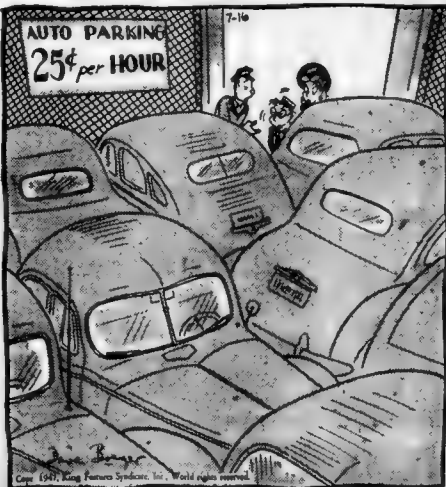

Mr. Sullivan has long seemed to me to be willing to go to the gutter to find a hero. He is a professional name-dropper, a grown up but still callow Saturday night sport in his first long pants, ogling the tough-guys of the corner pool-room and the blue-jawed "heavy" from the local stock company as he leaves the theater by the stage door after "East Lynne" or "Salome Jane."

HOLLYWOOD, July 16—Back in 1930, during the un-dear, dark days of the depression, a movie came along called "Ingagi" that was a shot in the arm of ailing box offices. In fact, the gory gorilla story pulled one theater chain completely out of the red.

While the picture was being such a terrific hit, no one would admit that the gorilla was played by a man. But later it came out that the sensational "animal" was really Charles Gemora, a clever make-up artist, who was more realistic in his costume than the real thing.

The reason Gemora is in our news this morning is that he is taking a layoff from his job in the Paramount make-up department to turn actor.

Producers again with a follow up to "Ingagi" titled "The Lady and the Gorilla." If history repeats itself, Betty Hutton at the box office, he may again top all cash records.

Betty Hutton

No, Gemora is not permanently giving up his job making up those Paramount belles as Betty Hutton and Paulette Goddard. He says he is just dusting off his monkey suit for one more movie fling.

RUTH GORDON and Garson Kanin saw Betty Hutton in "Perils of Pauline" and were completely sold on her. Ruth told me she thought Betty would be perfect in the movie version of Garson's play "Born Yesterday," which has been a solid New York hit.

I agree Betty would be wonderful as the dumb blonde who wrecks her racketeer boy friend but of course she would have to be borrowed from Paramount. I have never seen anyone look as well as Ruth does these days. She's so happy in her marriage that it does my heart good. She says she and Garson have had such a good time in Hollywood while they have been writing the Ronald Colman picture for Billy Goetz.

THERE ISN'T a shred of truth in the report that James Mason is settling out of court the law suit Producer Dave Rose in bringing against him. The case comes up in September. Meanwhile Mason is reading the script of "John Paul Jones," and Raoul Walsh, the director, goes East to discuss it with him.

Al Parker, former Hollywood director, now a successful London agent, who is at Pickfair with his wife Margaret Johnson and his daughter Beverly Parker Paterno, told me that while he is here he will discuss a deal for James Mason with several producers. Among them is William Goetz of Universal-International, who has several ideas in mind.

FAT DANE got land that job in "Cagliostro" for which she went to Mexico. When Tommy Dorsey heard she had not gone to Reno, he sent word to her that he expected her to keep her part of the agreement. Sooooo, she immediately left for Reno, where she is now.

I talked with Edward Small today and he admitted there was some doubt whether they would make "Cagliostro" at all. He says that Gregory Ratoff, who is in Mexico City, is coming back to discuss it with him. Maybe they'll make it in Hollywood, but the Mexican idea is off.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Judy Garland, who has been so terrific ill, is improving. Vincente Minnelli is moving her and the baby to the beach in Malibu, and he is spending all his time trying to get her back to health.

Judy is so talented it would be a pity she didn't take hold of herself at once. During the making of "The Pirate" she was so ill that the picture was held up continually. Perhaps after a rest she'll be all right. That's what we all hope. She had to go into the studio today to remake a scene in "The Pirate."

Florida, here they come! I mean the Paramount gang to film "Tarpon Springs," an original story by A. Bezzerides. There is a Greek settlement there who make their living in the sponge industry. The author is Greek and knows the story well, about the family who went there and settled.

Danny Dare is set to direct, and it will all be made in Florida. Hollywood Chamber of Commerce needn't bother to write.

Claudette Colbert is out of one Buddy Rogers-Ralph Kohn picture, "Sleep My Love," temporarily. She's suffering from an allergy. Dr. Joel Pressman, Claudette's doctor-husband, took her to Del Monte to see if the change of climate would help. When she came back she became ill again and is at Lake Arrowhead where she will stay until she completely recovers.

The same day Claudette was stricken Hazel Brooks, who is married to the actor, is in a private life, became ill with an attack of appendicitis.

It's too bad for Buddy who is working so hard—and even worse for poor Claudette, who has been a mighty sick girl.

SNAPS! OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Dane Clark and Wilma Francis, a twosome at Hollywood Park, were attracting plenty of attention.

Tomorrow Mary Pickford and Gregory La Cava meet in court. He is suing Mary for alleged breach of contract.

Mrs. Mark Stevens will try for a dramatic career after she obtains her divorce. She will use her maiden name of Annabelle Hayes.

A happy gal is Fay Bainter, who gets perfectly wonderful part in the new John Wilson stage play. She leaves for Fay Bainter New York immediately to start rehearsals.

Bob Stack, who must do something right away in the movies, because we miss him, at the Seacombers with pretty Irene Wrightman.

Bebe Daniels' shower for Dorothy Manners was something the 60 gals won't forget. The decorations, which Bebe did herself, were worthy of an interior decorator. Later the husbands and boy friends came in for cocktails, and of course, the bridegroom-to-be, John Haskell. Dorothy and John are being married Oct. 1.

A telephone call from Paris, with news, was a thrill. I was told that Edmund Goulding's hit tune, "Mamselle," is being played at Maxim's. Willie Wyler has bought two French films, which he will either remake or show as is.

Irwin Franklin, one of the best reporters on the Los Angeles Examiner, was signed by Harry Cohn and Irving Briskin to write the original screenplay on "Woman of Tangier." Well, they couldn't get a better writer.

Claire Trevor and Milton Bren continue to be a happy duet. They were at the Pendleton cocktail party and buffet dinner together.

The Selznick crew are back from New York where they have been busy on "Portrait of Jenny." David was at La Jolla with the Gregory Pecks to see "Dear Ruth."

Ward Greene and Bradley Kelley of King Features sent George McManus a de luxe handpainted silk tie with figures of Jiggs and Maggie on it, so he'll be the best dressed man at the opening of "Bringing Up Father" at the million dollar theater Wednesday. Congratulations again, George.

Bea Lillie and Jack Buchanan arrived today on the Queen Elizabeth. With them was Andre Charlot. They'll meet with Gertrude Lawrence and discuss reviving the old Charlot reviews.

Boston Alter Dark

THE BEST LEFT-FIELDER Boston ever had, Duffy Lewis, will be honored Sept. 29 at the Parker House Roof . . . Three generations of baseball fans will be present at a testimonial dinner for the great little outfielder who was part of the immortal Red Sox trio of Lewis, Speaker and Hooper . . . As his fans and friends well know, Lewis is the traveling secretary of the Braves and one of the most popular men in modern baseball.

But Duffy's reputation was made when the Red Sox were winning pennants (plural) . . . The Fenway Park of Duffy's day was of such curious architecture, or landscape, that its left pasture rose in a hill to meet the fence . . . That hill was called Duffy's Cliff, and Lewis patrolled it so expertly that the Red Sox entered every game with a considerable advantage over the opposition . . . No one could field that hilly outer garden like Duffy Lewis . . . A consistent hitter, and as deadly in the clutch as either Speaker or Harry Hooper, Lewis was an invaluable team man—a ballplayer's ballplayer . . . And so he is today.

SPEAKING OF BASEBALL of olden times, the city of Boston employs an irreplaceable man by the name of Edward F. Cassell, who apured off from the big leagues . . . He was an all-around athlete at Melrose High School, and captained the 1906 championship baseball team . . . Major league offers included bids from both Boston teams . . . The young Cassell turned them down . . . He was intent on making a career in real estate . . . At that, his real estate career touched on baseball twice . . . He sold Braves Field to the Gaffney interests, and in collaboration with another broker, Ed Cassell handled the sale of the Red Sox to Joe Lanning.

THE CASSELL CAREER has sparked with important deals, and because this brilliant man has risen to the topmost rank of his profession without the Boston public knowing anything about him except his name, this column today presents a brief biography of perhaps the most important individual in Boston's official realty affairs.

MR. CASSELL got his early municipal experience in his native Melrose, where he was chairman of the board of aldermen, Boston's foremost realty expert was the youngest acting mayor in Melrose's history . . . Ten years later, at the age of 35, Cassell had become the most powerful real estate boss in Boston . . . Other realtors say that he has handled more transactions in 40 years of activity than any man in the history of Suffolk, Norfolk and Middlesex Counties . . . It was Ed Cassell—to exemplify the scope of his career—who developed Newbury at, from Arlington St. westward into the "class" shopping center of the city.

THE CASSELL, renowned in real estate circles is based chiefly on his reputation as an expert on values . . . The Cassell method of appraising real estate is becoming standard in other cities . . . But in Massachusetts, Ed Cassell is the acknowledged top man in the field of appraisal . . . 29 cities and towns in Massachusetts have employed him as a real estate expert . . . He has served similarly for the United States government and for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and as chief expert for the city of Boston, has acted under five different mayors . . . Ed holds one national record, other realtors say . . . His record for court appearances as an expert not only has never been approached by a rival but probably will never be equalled anywhere in the United States . . . Court appearances as a witness have been so frequent that Edward has appeared in as many as four cases in a day.

AS THE TAX BILLS of the city are now being mailed, property owners may be interested in the foregoing brief profile of the man behind the city's real estate . . . If an owner is dissatisfied with his tax bill, he has recourse first to the board of assessors through a request for an abatement of his tax . . . Should this be unavailing, the owner may appeal to the State Appellate Board . . . It is before that body that the dissatisfied taxpayer is likely to meet Edward F. Cassell.

NEW YORK, July 16—Tommy Dorsey and Pat Dane may make the headlines yet if their divorce situation remains as tangled as it is now.

Pat, who is getting no settlement from the jazz genius, isn't anxious to file a suit but if she doesn't, he'll air charges. Pat is a very unhappy girl . . . Mickey Rooney's new Pat Dane heartbreak is a Pasadena debutante . . . Broadwayites hear Gypsy Rose Lee will be starred in Mike Todd's fall production "Star and Garter of 1948" . . . Mayo Methot, the ex-Mrs. Humphrey Bogart, has extinguished that torch. She has a wealthy Portland, Ore., business man talking orange blossoms and Lohengrin . . . Joan Edwards' second baby will arrive Thursday. The pop is Julius Schachter, violinist . . . Writer Ben Hecht faces a serious operation in the near future . . . Leo Durocher's West Coast buddies are spreading the rumor that he won't be back in Brooklyn next spring. Instead, they insist, a syndicate of Californians will buy the St. Louis Cards and name Leo as head man in the dugout.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON, July 16—Rep. Fred A. Hartley of New Jersey, co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor bill, is being anaroidly denounced by virtually all union leaders as the arch-enemy of labor. But the Republican Mr. Hartley came up for re-election in 1940 for the sixth time, this letter was circulated all over his district:

"To all city central bodies and local labor unions in the 10th Congressional district of New Jersey:

"I am sending this letter in behalf of Congressman Fred A. Hartley who by his votes and general attitude has proven himself an outstanding friend of labor.

"He is one of the high-ranking members of the labor committee of the United States House of Representatives and he is ever alert in that committee and elsewhere in the interest of labor.

"For one of the votes he has cast while a member of Congress has supported the views of the American Federation of Labor. I urge that the membership of every local union be advised of this fine attitude of Congressman Hartley and that they in turn request the members of their families, their neighbors and their friends in the district to support him in the coming primary and the November election.

"Let us prove to all that we are truly grateful to Congressman Hartley for the fine service he has rendered us by returning him to Congress by an overwhelming vote. Fraternally yours."

Now, who do you guess wrote that letter? J. Pierpont Morgan? No—it was written by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor!

MR. HARTLEY'S FILES in his suite in the old House office building—which is also the chamber of the labor committee of which he is chairman—are packed to bursting with letters and telegrams from all the big union bosses, CIO as well as AFL, lauding him to the skies as being one of the staunchest friends labor has in the halls of Congress. He has bales of praising communications from Philip Murray, president of the CIO, and even more from the late Sidney Hillman, erstwhile head of the Political Action Committee.

Mr. Hartley said he always refers to the big union czars as "labor barons."

"It is extremely analogous," he said. "These 'labor barons' continually refer to the misguiding and inequitable Wagner Act as 'labor's Magna Charta.' Either they have their tongue in their cheek or they don't recall their history correctly.

"If anyone will take the trouble to consult the history books they will find Magna Charta granted nothing to the common people. It was strictly an agreement between King John and the barons. The barons were to get certain rights—and only the barons.

"The American Bill of Rights was a gift from all the big union bosses. CIO as well as AFL, lauding him to the skies as being one of the staunchest

CURRENTLY REP. HARTLEY is easily the most written-to man in America. Because of shortage of help he has had to give up reading any but carefully-selected communications. And if he lives to be 500 he could never get around to dictating answers. I asked him which he seemed to be getting the most of—knocks or boosts? He said boosts seemed to be leading the field by a fair margin but that none of the letters he had managed to read personally was what might be termed dispassionate.

"I never get any temperate letters," he grinned. "Everything I get is red hot one way or the other."

REP. HARTLEY declined to comment on the case of Mrs. Mary Norton, who is both his fellow-Congressman from New Jersey and Democratic predecessor as labor committee chairman. Mrs. Norton resigned from the committee, sniffing loudly that she refused to be associated with "such a man as that Hartley."

22 Cheer Fashion Show

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, July 16—When it comes to giving the gal with the "flirty-flirty eyes" and a flirty-flirty figure royal fashion finesse and decorum, without sacrificing the obviousness of her flirtatious intent, Nettie Rosenstein is in a class all by herself.

After viewing her collection last night, one of the best she has ever done . . . and it was cheered by the visiting fashion press of the country . . . amid the glamorous and comparable French-couture-opening setting at Sherry's.

The Greeks had a word for it, but Nettie Rosenstein has the clothes for it, clothes which make her the best friend feminine curves ever had. Of course, she has always concentrated on curves. The tiny waistline which points up and accents those curves, the body beautiful, but for the new season, more than ever before, she makes those curves speak for themselves, but loudly. She refuses to clutter them up or conceal them.

Every insinuating line of her silhouette is like a magnet, drawing attention to the anatomical beauty of a woman's body from the jutting out collars at the throat to petal-frame the face, to the smooth stretch of fabric over the bodice drawn to a nipped-in-waistline like the point of a triangle, to hips naturally hoarded with folds of material, to hemlines purposely lowered.

Because lavish gestures with yards of marvelous fabric make very clear new and exciting outlines, La Rosenstein maintains a firm, restraining hand on the color palette. Her colors are bold, brazen, stark. They are not combined for contrast without colors, lest her already too eye-filling silhouette blind the limp spectator.

When a suit is black, it is black. When it is "blue jay" blue, it is really blue. When the dinner dress is a divine shade of brilliant green, that it is with no other color trickery to detract from the picture. Like an artist who uses bold splashes of color for this oil painting, Nettie Rosenstein uses bold splashes of color for her clothes.

Her famous "little black dress" is a little longer, a little fuller in the right places, a little tighter at the waistline, a little more of all right. Her suits have longer jackets that wrap the figure like a stocking wraps the leg, or a glove fits the hands. Collars are larger, however, and either picture-frame the face, or lie flat in enlarged revers.

She showed two coats in medieval red . . . longer versions of shorties . . . one, a tapered box coat, the other a full-flared back, monk-kied only in front, which we venture to predict will sweep the country.

In the welter of skirt-length confusion and how long can a skirt get . . . Rosenstein flatly stated last night her flatly-credo for the season. For her daytime clothes it must be 13 inches from the ground and no snitching, if you would be the fashion-plate you think you are.

Her dinner and evening clothes collection, a great Rosenstein forte, is fresh, original and very new, prophetic in silhouette since it features beautiful, "figurehead" drapery. In popular parlance that means that great folds of taffeta or satin jut out at the back of a dress to make a woman's profile look like the goddess on the prow of a sailing ship. And you thought a profile only had to do with a face.

This torso drapery is most effective, although we must admit, it needs a tall girl to do it justice. And before you ask the question, we'll give you the answer. No, you don't sit on it, it is so strategically executed that it comes below the point of lady-like sitting and there is no danger of crushing the drapery.

Perhaps a trial balloon put possibly an international catcher-on like Rosenstein's two-tiered "flower" skirt of last year, is the money clip overskirt shown in several beguiling fashions. It is an oval of taffeta stiffened with horsehair with a hole cut in the center for the waistline. Flaring out at the sides, the overskirt drops to the knees in a charming black taffeta cocktail dress with an oval tipped shoulder neckline and a slim black lace underskirt. There are lace mitts to match.

Rosenstein can take bows with her bows. A "little black" number has a galaxy of black satin bows, fetchingly placed at a shoulder and opposite hip and in reverse position on the rear of the dress. An evening creper in black, totally bared of shoulder and low down to there has a huge black satin bow strewn across the bodice front. Could it be an amusing attempt at covering up? Well, hardly. The old-time "clutch coat," or are you too old to remember, made a return appearance in Rosenstein brand new collection. This long black coat, so very, very soignée for late afternoon and informal dinner wear over an ankle-length dress is a wrap-over number, the kind mamma had and hugged her figure in.

Many of Rosenstein's dinner dresses are ankle-length necessitating beautiful footwear. Adele Simpson's collection for Mary Lee is one of the most exciting of the season. She presents the American woman with prefabricated contours, the proper pretty curves, long lines and liveness all built in and guaranteed not only to beautify, but let you breathe at the same time.

This designer, who probably never wore a corset in her life . . . she weighs about 90 pounds and is fashion industry's diminuative but dynamic creator . . . will have no truck with contraptions of bone, satin and dangling strings. So she puts the corset right into the garment.

And she guarantees it will take inches off your waistline. While deflating your waistline, Adele Simpson puts out your skirt at the back and builds out by our collar at the front in her new profile emphasis.

Since this is a tricky season as regards the right suit for the right woman, Adele Simpson offers no less than six types to choose from. There's the "muffler suit," notably in a gay affair of black and white shepherd checked wool with

Trio of Smart New Gowns By Famous Designers

BUCKEYE tweed . . . in red, white and black . . . for the major part of this all-round, versatile fall dress is smartly accented with a black wool jersey yoke . . . extending over the shoulders in back . . . by Josef Walker in her fall and winter collection for David M. Goodstein in accordance with the rounded and sloping shoulderline SHIMMERY, slinky satin . . . a prime fall dressup fabric . . . is given the dynamic touch by that diminutive but spotlight designer, Adele Simpson, in this dinner dress (shown at left) for the Mary Lee collection. The new and full silhouette version . . . which Adele Simpson sponsors . . . in old gold has a built-in fichu to give new shape to the bodice. The high-wrapped waistline . . . and you'll be seeing much of this waistline . . . little turndown collar and matching gloves complete the en, la, la, look.

SLIM silhouette . . . accenting virtually every curve in a woman's body and for which the incomparable Nettie Rosenstein is so widely acclaimed . . . is expressed by this designer in a dinner dress of black crepe with the off-shoulder line and the new uni-low back emphasized by a flat cuff of black taffeta. The taffeta is repeated in a circular flange in at the side back . . . and topped with a large bow . . . a strategic spot for bow-placing this fall.

high double-breasted and widely flared jacket over a slim black sweater blouse and skirt . . . the peppermint outline with longish jacket built to roundness below the incurred waistline . . . the profile suit, with a decided flare of pleats or folds at back or side front . . . the "Casanova" suit, really a dress of sheer black wool and a jacket of black broadcloth, both moulded and the dress built up to a high bosom line.

THE MARRIAGE of Miss Lucy Keating, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Keating and Arthur Keating of Chicago, to Donald Snow Burns, son of Mrs. Jules Burns and the late Mr. Burns of Boston, took place yesterday at the St. Regis Hotel, New York.

Rev. Dana MacLean Greeley of Boston performed the ceremony. Mrs. Burns attended Baldwin

Mrs. Donald S. Burns

School at Bryn Mawr, and Connecticut College for Women. Mr. Burns is a graduate of Fessenden School, Phillips Academy, Andover, and the American Institute of Baking, Chicago. He is going into the baking industry. He and his bride will make their home after a honeymoon at Nantucket.

THE GOLDEN WEDDING of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Loring of Winchester was celebrated last evening at a reception for friends and neighbors at their home on New Meadows rd. They were married 50 years ago, July 15, in Boston. Mrs. Loring is the former Catherine Hayes of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murphy of Newtonville, son-in-law and daughter of the couple, joined in the anniversary festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Howe, Jr. (Elaine Gaskill), are back from a motor trip to Montreal where they spent their honeymoon and are busy getting settled in their attractive new house in South Weymouth.

They were married Friday the 13th (of June) which is a lucky day for the bride since she was born on Friday the 13th. She has 13 letters in her maiden name and was the 13th baby in the nursery at the time of her birth.

Elaine and Oliver were married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gaskill of So. Weymouth, with Rev. Joseph Newton officiating. Mr. Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Howe of No. Weymouth, is a former Marine and spent 2½ years in the Pacific.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Everybody brought his own sandwiches, salad and drinks to the Eel River Beach Club's first beach picnic of the season the other eve-

Nancy Carroll Tells How She Stays Young

Women have been searching for a magic formula for keeping young since time immemorial. Nancy Carroll, who continues to look glamorous after many years on the stage and screen, thinks she has one answer to the centuries-old problem.

Offering a practical formula for youth, Miss Carroll has written a special article, "How I Stay Young," for next Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with the Boston Sunday Advertiser. It should prove of special interest to the ladies.

Another outstanding American Weekly article next Sunday will be a fearless attack by Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers on the death-dealing menace of the sleeping pill. She calls her article "Control for the Devil's Capules," presenting effective means of smashing this growing danger.

Young Beets Rich Treat

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

YOUNG AND TENDER BEETS cooked with the fresh green tops are one of the treats from the garden or vegetable section of the grocery store. This is a seasonal dish which makes it a pleasure to be enjoyed only in summer.

Tiny red beets can be washed and cooked with their leaves in boiling, salted water. When tender, drain and dress with butter, salt and pepper. Vinegar may be served separately for those who want it. Larger beets are cut from the tops and the two cooked separately. The beets are served whole or sliced on a bed of cooked, seasoned greens. Vinegar or lemon juice and salad oil may be added as desired.

SCALLOPED BEETS

6 tbsp. flour 1 cup water
6 bacon strips 3 tbsp. melted fat
6 tbsp. lemon juice
3 cups sliced, cooked beets
4 tsp. sugar ½ cup vinegar
Mix flour into fat, gradually add water, lemon juice and vinegar, stirring until smooth; add sugar and cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Arrange beets in greased baking dish, pour sauce over them, and lay strips of bacon on top. Bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) for 15 to 20 minutes, or until bacon is crisp. Makes 6 servings.

VARIATIONS OF BOILED BEETS

Harvard Beets—Use 3 tsp. butter or margarine, ½ tsp. corn starch, ¼ tsp. salt, 2½ tsp. sugar and ¼ cup vinegar, and prepare as for medium white sauce; add 12 to 14 medium-sized beets and heat thoroughly.

Beets in Orange Sauce—Use 1 tbsp. each butter or margarine and flour, ½ tsp. salt, dash of paprika, ½ tsp. brown sugar, and ½ cup water; prepare as for white sauce. Add ½ tsp. grated orange rind, ¼ cup orange juice and 3 cups sliced beets, and heat thoroughly.

Deviled Beets—Heat 3 tsp. melted butter or margarine, 2 tbsp. vinegar, ½ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. each paprika and mustard, 1 tsp. powdered sugar and 1 tsp. Worcestershire; pour over 3 cups diced, cooked beets and serve hot.

Sliced Beets in Sour Sauce—Use 2 tbsp. each butter or margarine and flour and ¼ cup beet liquor, and prepare as for medium white sauce; add ½ tsp. salt, dash of pepper, 2 tbsp. sugar and ¼ cup vinegar, and bring to a boil; pour hot sauce over sliced beets.

Vinegar Beets—Combine 1½ cup each water and vinegar, ½ tsp. salt, 1-8 tsp. pepper and 1 tsp. sugar; pour over 3 cups sliced hot beets and let stand until cold.

However you cook beets, a natural accompaniment is corn bread or muffins. Bake in corn slick pans if you have them so that a crusty product will result. If a pan is used, spread the batter thin and bake until golden brown.

CORN STICKS

¾ cup yellow corn meal
1 cup sifted flour ½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder 1 cup milk
4 tsp. sugar 1 egg, well beaten
3 tsp. shortening, melted
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine well beaten egg and milk, and add to dry ingredients. Stir in shortening. Bake in greased muffin pans in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Or bake in iron corn-stick pans, which have been heated before they are greased. Makes 18 small or 12 medium muffins or corn sticks.

'The Late George Apley' 28in Cohasset Town Hall

"The Late George Apley," with Grant Mitchell in the role Leo Q. Carroll created in the original Broadway production, will be the sixth production in a season of eight plays presented by the South Shore Players at Town Hall, Cohasset. Richard Hoover is directing the Dean-Burleigh-Hoover production.

EXUBERANT Betty Hutton duplicates many of the breath-taking stunts of the original Pearl White, daredevil serial queen of the silents, Paramount's Technicolor production, "Perils of Pauline." The film moves from the Met to the Paramount and Fenway screens tomorrow.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, July 16 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and her fiance, Lt. Philip Mountbatten, danced until 3 a. m. today and drove home to Holyrood castle while milk wagons clattered in the streets.

Here with the royal family for a week's visit, the couple went to a public dance for the benefit of the National Ass'n of Girls' Clubs.

They did waltzes, fox-trots and old-fashioned dances, but she chose another partner, the Hon. David Balfour, for a scottish double eightsome reel. Mountbatten said scottish reels were too intricate for him.

Zale-Graziano Bout Protected From 'Fix' Artists

By JACK CONWAY

THE FUTURE of boxing in Chicago will hang in the balance when Tony Zale defends his world middleweight championship against Rocky Graziano in the Chicago Stadium tonight. The Illinois Boxing Commission has thrown every possible safeguard around the match.

Zale and Graziano have their own private guards which will eliminate the possibility of any gambler trying to make either boxer any bribe offer. Graziano is under suspension in New York State for failing to report to the New York Commission two offers he says were made to him to throw matches. Rocky knocked out Bunny Davis in the first bout that an effort was made to "fix," while the second attempt was made the second tussle in the bout with Cowboy Rueben Shank which was called off.

When Zale and Graziano met in New York, the champion won by a kayo after almost being flattened in the early rounds. Rocky is an explosive fighter who does his most effective punching in the early rounds.

Zale is a veteran of the ring wars. He can take a good punch and come back fighting. He has boxed out of Chicago and has many followers in that city. Graziano comes from New York, and his hitting ability and color has made him popular with fight fans everywhere. The public feels Rocky was given too severe a penalty when set down in New York in view of the fact he did not agree to go along with the surething gamblers.

Chicago Keyed Up Over Title Bout

CHICAGO is more excited over the Zale-Graziano bout than it has been since Gene Tunney defeated Jack Dempsey in the "Battle of the Long Count" almost 20 years ago.

Chicago's last bout of national importance was the one in which Joe Louis won the heavyweight championship from Jimmy Braddock ten years ago. It was a foregone conclusion Louis would win, and as a result the contest lacked great appeal to the public.

Such a condition does not exist in the Zale-Graziano bout. Zale has the ruggedness and ring experience on his side, while a puncher like Graziano always has a chance to win with a single well directed wallop.

Middleweights like Zale and Graziano are able to give more action than some of the bigger boxers. The interest in the Chicago bout proves the public appreciates this fact.

Down through the years the middleweight class has turned out numerous top flight performers. Harry Greb was this writer's idea of one of the greatest of middleweight champions. He won the title by outscoring Johnny Wilson in a hard, grueling bout. He was obliged to make a great finish to win from Wilson who turned in one of his best battles. Greb then successfully defended his title against Wilson in a return match.

Even Jack Dempsey did not want any part of Greb. The old "Manassa Mauler" turned down an offer of $100,000 to box Greb six rounds in a no-decision bout in Philadelphia.

Greb was a human windmill and tossed punches from every angle.

One of Greb's hardest bouts was with "Kid" Norfolk here at Mechanics Building. Greb and Norfolk did not concern themselves too much with the rules of boxing, and Greb was finally disqualified.

Ryba Credits Control for his Success

MIKE RYBA has done a good job as manager of the Lynn Red Sox, gets $10,000 a year in salary. He also occasionally goes to the mound and has proven he can still turn in a first class pitching performance.

"How are you able to pitch so well?" A Lynn fan asked Mike. "I put the ball over the plate and let the outfielders catch it," declared the veteran. "The trouble with a great many pitchers is that they do not have control and they get themselves into a great deal of unnecessary trouble."

A racing fan suggests that the major tracks should enter an agreement by which the same horses would not be given stable room for more than two years. He argues that such a plan would give the fans better attractions. It is monotonous seeing the same horses in action year after year.

Lincoln Downs will not have the elevator leading to the Turf Club until Aug. 1. On opening day, B. A. Dario admitted without the usual $3 charge persons who climbed the long flight of stairs to the Turf Club. . . . Sergt. Eddie Mack predicts the new Rhode Island track will handle more than $400,000 a day for its 42-day meeting which will leave it in the profit column. . . . While the $3,000,000 plant has a big bonded indebtedness, its other expenses are not much more than they were when the Dario group operated at Pascoag.

Pascoag is to be dismantled for racing purses so as to avoid the danger of a third Rhode Island track. . . . Russ Murray, boss at Raynham, says many of the racegoers to Lincoln Downs drop off at Raynham Park on their way home. . . . Wonderland Park gets similar benefits from Suffolk Downs.

"Monmouth Park in New Jersey continues to be the one race track to run against the betting trend. . . . Its daily average mutual handle is well over $1,000,000 a day. . . . Johnny Shkor has purchased a tavern in Baltimore. . . . When Suffolk Down closes, the racing picture will move to Rockingham Park. . . . Narragansett's decision to increase the value of its stakes was a move in the right direction. . . . The Narragansett Special will be for $50,000, which places it on an equal standing with the Massachusetts Handicap.

"One of the reasons why New England tracks have not been able to get better horses is because they did not keep pace with major tracks in other sections of the country in the matter of lifting the value of purses.

United Shoe, Springfield Golfers Dominate State Junior Tourney

By BILL GRIMES

At this stage of the State Junior championship, the finals could be an all-United Shoe or an all-Springfield battle.

Going into the third round today at the Westover Country Club, Tom Mahan, Jr., of the United Shoe, was in the upper half of the draw and his clubmate, Jackie Nies, Jr., was in the lower bracket. The Springfield survivors of the first and second rounds were Bob "Bucky" Marchese, of the Country Club of Springfield, and Bill Roberts of Franconia. Marchese was above and Roberts below the line.

There was little question but that Mahan, Nies, Marchese and Roberts were the class of the field. But they had to be right on their games to remain in the fight for the title which Bob Woodward, Bellevue, defaulted.

Young Mahan wasn't feeling well yesterday afternoon. He had eaten something that upset his stomach. He was in bad shape between the morning and afternoon rounds. He was prevailed upon finally by Harry McGrath, Sr., Winchester, an M.G.A. official, to drink some hot milk. Then he went out and hung an 8 and 7 defeat on his cousin, Larry Corcoran, who addies at The Country Club. During the 11 holes he played against young Corcoran, Mahan carded 10 4s and one 3. He was out in 35 with bogeys on two of the short holes, and he was one over par figures at the short 12th.

Jackie Nies eliminated Eddie Sziklas and Leo Dolan yesterday. He pinned a 5 and 4 on Sziklas and came back in the p. m. to chalk up a 6 and 5 over Dolan.

Marchese stopped Al Nogler, 4 and 3, in the morning and then eliminated Paul Harney, Wachusett, a very promising youngster, in the second round.

Bill Roberts didn't encounter enough competition from Johnny Kent, Wellesley, and Don Ganey, United Shoe, to get warmed up. He knocked off the Wellesley youngster, 8 and 7, and then took the boy from "The Shoe," 6 and 5. Young Mahan had a fight on his hands this morning against Tom Hovey, Worcester C. C., who played par golf in both of yesterday's matches while beating Johnny O'Grady, New Bedford, 5 and 4, and Leo Mullin, The Country Club, 8 and 7.

In fact, Hovey might be the lone survivor of the upper bracket and it could be that Frank Lally, Commonwealth, would knock off the more highly publicized boys in the lower bracket, which will mean a Hovey-Lally final.

Incidentally, there are nine Hearst N. E. qualifiers still in the running for the State Junior crown. They are Tom Mahan, Jackie Nies, Bob Marchese, Bill Roberts, Tom Hovey, Paul Kendrick, Jim Quinn, Ken Campbell and Dick Marrow.

Suffolk Meeting Rough On Apprentice Riders

By DAVE WILSON

The chief news at Suffolk Downs concerns a couple of apprentice jockeys. The stewards started the ball rolling by the cancelling of the mounts for Jose Espinosa, the "bug" rider from down May-hee-way.

of a domestic nature, according to the stewards, who added "that no ruling would be issued." The sensational Maryland apprentice jockey, Donald Boston, luckily escaped serious injury when his mount, Reodon, fell during the running of the fourth race. With J. Huggins, R. Prevost, C. Mullins and R. Petrin, sidelined by injuries, and Espinosa in the role of a spectator, Boston is somewhat of a stand-out over the few remaining apprentice riders, most of whom have never ridden a winner.

William Helis' Elpis, winner of last Saturday's $15,000 Molly Pitcher Handicap at Monmouth Park, is here awaiting Saturday's running of the $15,000 Hannah Dustin Handicap. The daughter of Blue Larkspur has won the last two runnings of the Hannah Dustin race. Another formidable candidate for the one mile and a sixteenth week-end feature is Mrs. Helene K. Haggerty's Rampart, who arrived yesterday morning. Rampart recently drubbed the Mill River's Miss Grillo in a stake race.

Apprentice jockey Frank Smothers, whose contract is held by Howard Hoffman, has returned from two years' service overseas and is planning a saddle comeback... Honors for the highest priced claim at the current session go to John L. McKnight, who halted Golden Thorn out of Monday's seventh race for $10,000.

Anthony Ryan is toying with the idea of starting Ellen Mist in the Hannah Dustin. The daughter of Tedious is in the event a feebly spotted underdog in the import of 105 pounds... Three stablemates accompanied Elpis on her Suffolk jaunt. Shaffie, a fleet three-year-old from the stable of Mrs. Helene K. Haggerty, is now stabled here. A certain good fellow with an aching head on Monday afternoon took the hunch by coupling Big Party and Sure Sleepy in the daily double and got well to the tune of $346 for every decade invested.

Diego, Red burnt up considerable of the public's money in yesterday's third race when he made one of his frequent excursions in the general direction of the outside fence... Jewel, the runner-up to Landlight in the second race, also detoured badly at the head of the home stretch and the daughter of Chrysler, 2nd, performed as if probably best.

Striped Bass Biting in Canal

By DARK MONTREAL

Striped bass fishing in Cape Cod Canal came up hot again this week. Bill Chase, Sr., of Sagamore, gave Bill, Jr., another lesson on the use of an eelskin rig, taking 16 fish Monday night while his son was catching one. Biggest Canal fish to date was a 34-pounder caught by Joe Prada, of Sagamore, formerly of Quincy. Roy Holt and his son, of Buzzards Bay, took 15 fish. Other big fish included a 32½-pounder taken by Wayne Mendez, one of the same size by Harry Franklin of New Bedford, one 27½ by Felix Balbo of New York. Most fish taken between 2 and 5 a. m. on the east tide but a good showing of fish after daybreak and a number caught on bottom-fished squid during the daylight hours.

Middleweights Hold Spotlight At Dilboy Tonight

Middleweights are featured in the weekly boxing program at Dilboy Field, Somerville, tonight with six entered in Class A and four in Class B of the George Dilboy Post, VFW, boxing card. The top-seeded group includes Mike Cocozza, Haverhill; Nick DeStefano, New Bedford; Arnold Vivolo, North End; George Sensoli, South End; Rod McDonald, Quincy, and Austin Elder, Cambridge. Lower bracketing lists Joe Daley, Cambridge; Joe Gill, South Boston; Phil Malone, Roxbury, and Tim VanChase, Cambridge.

Other outstanding purses entered will be NE champions Frank Collins, 118-pounder from Roxbury, and Sheldon Seavey, 126-pounder from Haverhill, and State titlist Ralph Barbetta, East Boston, in the 135's.

Competition will be in all classes from the 112's to heavyweights.

the plugs were the same, the abilities of the fishermen were evenly matched, but the directions which the lure took through the rip gave the plugs of the fishermen on the points that extra bit of action which made them so much more effective. To the novice fisherman it might be well to mention the value of finding a rip and fishing the lure from the starting point of the rip.

Note from Robert B. Pond, of Attleboro, the plug manufacturer, as follows:

"Plug fishing has become very popular but there are some suggestions that might be of help to your readers.

"Sunday, July 6, taking advantage of a good run of bass, Toby Knowles, his father and I went to the canal. There we found many fishermen. All the points we used to frequent were occupied. There was some room in behind the points where good casting should overcome the disadvantage of distance. Toby is as good a caster as any on the canal and he was casting well before the fishermen on the point. The bait being used by the majority were plugs and the results were proof of something worth mentioning. The fishermen on the points, standing at the beginning of the rip, took three fish to our one. The casts were all reaching the same distance, ponds.

In addition we found some of the fishermen were bringing their young sons and instead of teaching them to fish correctly, also good sportsmanship, they turned them loose among the other fishermen, thereby causing not only a disturbance but the boys, not being able to get their casts beyond the old time fishermen were getting their lines snarled with theirs. This didn't help the boy, and made the old fishermen very disgruntled. Fathers of would-be fishermen should observe this little courtesy."

The biggest haddock in many years are being taken at Manomet Point, according to report from Al Tripp's boat station there. One of 13 lbs. five ounces was weighed in by a party of five from Rhode Island who took a total of 464 pounds.

Yanks Threaten A. L. Win Streak Set by Chisox '06 'Hitless Wonders'

One of the American League's most majestic marks—the 19 consecutive victories by the White Sox, famous "hitless wonders" of 1906—was being seriously threatened today by the Yankees, according to the Associated Press.

Having moved so far out in front where only a near-miracle can prevent them from winning their first flag since 1913, the on-rushing Bronx Bombers now boast 16 straight wins and need only four more to shatter the record which has withstood all attempts to dislodge it for the past 40 years.

Only three times during that span has a team been able to come so close to the mark. The old Yankees of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Tony Lazzeri back in 1926 reached 16 but were stopped the next day. The 1912 Senators and 1931 Athletics went them one better, winning 17 straight each, but got no further. The major league record of 26 straight by the Giants of 1916 still is too far off to be given any serious thought.

In winning both ends of a twilight-night doubleheader from the Indians in Cleveland before a huge turnout of 62,355 paid fans yesterday, 9-4 and 2-1, the Yankees not only had the satisfaction of prolonging their streak but got their 16th win at the expense of the great Bob Feller.

After the Yanks won the opener easily behind the 10-hit hurling of ex-Indian Allie Reynolds, the Indians went all out in an effort to halt the Yankees' winning skid at 15 by leading with their strongest weapon—Feller. And for eight innings the issue was in doubt as the majors' strikeout king held the New Yorkers and Pitcher Floyd Bevens even, 1-1. But in the ninth Joe DiMaggio reached base and with two out carried the all-important run over the plate when Billy Johnson rapped a triple.

Oddly enough, the triumph was achieved by Bevens who was the victim of Feller's no-hit masterpiece against the Yankees last year. It was the first win since May 25 for the Yankee righthander who allowed only five hits and matched Feller's strikeout total of five. The Indians' lone run was achieved by Migr. Lou Boudreau who numbered a home run, double and single among his three hits to zoom his league-leading batting average to .348. Dale Mitchell

STAR-DUST

BATTING—Wally Westlake, Pirates—Drove in seven runs with a base-clearing double and a grand slam home run as the Pirates socked the Dodgers 12-4 in the first game of a double-header. Also singled in the nightcap which was won by the Pirates 9-3.

PITCHING—Dave Koslo, Giants—Held the Cubs to five singles for his second shutout victory and his 10th of the season as the Giants downed the Cubs 4-0.

ell, rookie Cleveland outfielder, hit safely in each game, to extend his hitting streak through 16 games.

Just for the record, the twin triumph extended the Yankees' lead over the second place Detroit Tigers to 11 games.

Another consecutive win streak, perhaps more remarkable if not as spectacular as the Yankees' skid, belongs to Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati's sensational string-bean righthander. Blackwell pitched his 14th straight victory last night as the Reds hit the .500 mark with a 5-4 win over the Phillies in Philadelphia. Only a handful of big league pitchers have won more in a row with the Giants' Tim Lincecum and Rube Marquard leading the pack with 19 straight. Blackie got off to a poor start, trailing 4-1 after three innings, but held the Phils to four hits in the last six frames while the Reds came from behind to enable him to register win No. 16. Eighth inning singles by Babe Young, Augie Galan and Eddie Miller who got Blackwell out of a serious jam in the bottom half of the inning with a spectacular catch, brought in the deciding run. Al Jurisich was the loser.

Pittsburgh's last-place Pirates dealt a double-barreled body blow to Brooklyn's pennant aspirations when they handed the National League leaders a double setback, 12-4 and 9-3, in their twin bill at Ebbets Field. Led by rookie outfielder Wally Westlake, who drove in seven runs with a base-clearing double and grand slam homer, the Bucs walloped four Dodger hurlers for 10 hits in the opener. They combined three more Brooklyn pitchers for 13 safeties in the nightcap, the best of these being a pair of doubles by Hank Greenberg and a homer and single by Jimmy Bloodworth.

With Dave Koslo pitching five-hit ball, the Giants shut out the Cubs at the Polo Grounds, 4-0, to move within three-and-a-half games of the lead and only one game behind the second-place Braves. It was the second shutout and 10th win for the chunky left-hander, who now has beaten the Cubs four straight. Will Marshall rapped his 21st home run and Walker Cooper hit his 20th for the Giants. The loss was Chicago's tenth in their last 11 starts.

The Tigers, playing to their smallest twilight game crowd of the season—11,378 paid fans—scored four runs in the sixth inning to overcome a 5-1 Washington lead and went on to win 11-6. Roy Cullenbine clouted his 11th homer for the Tigers and Hal White, second of three Detroit pitchers, was the winner. Although he lost his shutout in the ninth inning when Vern Stephens tripped and scored on Jeff Heath's infield out, Phil Marchildon gained his 10th victory when he pitched the Athletics to an 8-1 triumph over the Browns in St. Louis. Marchildon was supported greatly by second baseman Pete Suder who made four hits and drove in three runs. Ellis Kinder, who won his first five games for the Browns dropped his fourth straight.

Kenny Washington Reports Knee Is O. K.

LOS ANGELES, July 16 (AP)—Backfield star Kenny Washington believes his tricky knees have mended and that he will be able to perform creditably for the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League this fall.

Washington so informed Head Coach Bob Snyder, who plans to use the former UCLA sensation at half and quarterback in the coming season. The 27-year-old Negro, who now weighs 203, said he has been working out for several months, testing the knees which hampered his play last season.

A New Line—West Point football stars Glenn Davis (left) and Doc Blanchard, prepare for the shooting of a scene in the film they are making in Hollywood. Actress Tanis Chandler, talking with Blanchard, is the leading lady in the story of the Army backfield stars.

His 16th Victory—Ewell Blackwell (left) smiles jubilantly after pitching his 14th straight win to give the Cincinnati Reds a 5 to 4 victory over the Phillies. Teammate Ray Lameno (center) and Manager Johnny Naun of the Reds, congratulate the happy hurler. The victory marked Blackwell's 16th win for the Reds this season.
